

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A number of people have contributed directly or indirectly to this book. First, I would like to recognize Bob Richards, J.J. McCue, Tim Lenahan, George Masters and the entire U. S. Naval Test Pilot School staff, circa 1988, for their excellent introduction to the flight test process. Their classroom instruction and textbooks were the major source of the information in this document. Next, I would like to thank Professors Lou Schmidt, Rick Howard and Eric Pagenkopf for the early editing as well as the superb classroom instruction in the more rigorous side of engineering. Lt Bob Curbeam, USN, wrote the chapter on stores management system testing and I want to acknowledge and thank him for his rapid and concise efforts. Good job for a fighter guy. Next, I would like to thank Sarah Brenzo and June Norris for the excellent final editing and type setting. Finally, I would like to thank my wife Gena for hanging in there during the hours I spent in writing and editing.
